WELCOME

WELCOME TO THE TOWN OF MALI LOŠINJ AND THE LOŠINJ ARCHIPELAGO. Enjoy the scent of the sea and the hospitality of the local people.

The Cres and Lošinj archipelago in Kvarner Bay is the largest group of islands in the Adriatic, made up of 36 islands, islets and reefs. The Town of Mali Lošinj includes the southern part of the island of Cres, the island of Lošinj and a group of smaller islands and islets (Susak, Ilovik, Unije, Male Srakane and Vele Srakane etc.).

The island climate is very pleasant all the year round. Century-old pine forests and a variety of plant and animal species are the distinctive features of these islands. When we add 120 years of tourist tradition, the result is an ideal holiday area.

Lošinj's sights include numerous churches and works of art. The antique, approximately 2000-year-old bronze statue of the Greek athlete Apoxyomenos, found in the Lošinj sea, stands out among them.

One of the facts that we point out to with particular pleasure is that the area around the island of Lošinj is the habitat of the last large group of bottlenose dolphins (tursiops truncatus) in the Northern Adriatic, which is indicative of an exceptional level of cleanness of the sea.

These pages provide basic information on Lošinj and the surrounding area: the historical sights, cultural events and entertainment during the summer, as well as the gastronomy, accommodation, sports and recreation facilities.

Enjoy the mild Mediterranean climate, the sea, the sun and the beauty of the green landscape hiking, cycling and walking. Discover the magnificent marine world diving, swimming and sailing.

Discover and experience the charm of this unique island, which delights all of its visitors year after year.

THE CRES AND LOŠINJ ARCHIPELAGO, PARTLY CROSSED BY THE 45⁰ LATITUDE, LIES IN THE MIDDLE OF THE NORTHERN HEMISPHERE. A greater part of the archipelago is situated within the subtropical zone of the southern half of the northern hemisphere, which influences the climate and the life-style of the people. The whole coastline abounds in attractive bays and coves, ideal for swimming and sunbathing. Lošinj's highest hill is the wooded hill of Osorščica (588 m), which is some 10 kilometres long and stretches along the northern part of the island. On the island of Cres, which is generally higher than Lošinj, the highest hill is Sis (650 m). Cres has a freshwater lake, which is a natural phenomenon. It is needless to say that so much drinking water on a karst island represents a real treasure.

The Lošinj archipelago includes the island of Lošinj (74.68 km²), a group of smaller islands, Unije (16.77 km²), Ilovik (5.88 km²), Susak (3.76 km²), Vele Srakane (1.17 km²), as well as a number of small uninhabited islets - peaceful oases, where one can spend the day relaxing and swimming.

The main characteristics of the climate are mild winter and not too hot summer. The island lies at a sufficient distance from the mainland, so that the climate is mainly influenced by the sea. The sea temperatures are higher than the air temperatures during the autumn, winter and the first part of spring. The predominantly maritime character of the climate is also reflected in its effect on summer sultriness. Mali Lošinj, namely, has a considerably smaller number of days with a maximum air temperature higher than 25°C.

Owing to the annual average insolation of approx. 2,580 hours and a very low average number of cloudy days Lošinj ranks among the sunniest areas in Europe.

Characteristics of the micro-climate of Lošinj:

- Average air temperature during the summer 23.5 °C
- Average air temperature during the winter 7.9 °C
- 2580 sunny hours in a year
- Humidity 62% - 73%
- Pressure 1006 - 1014 hPa
- On average 4 days a year of fog with visibility less than 1 km
- Average wind speed force 3
- Maximum sea temperature 23.6 °C
- Minimum sea temperature 11.8 °C

THE MILD CLIMATE OF THE ISLAND OF LOŠINJ IS REFLECTED IN A GREAT VARIETY OF PLANT SPECIES. Some 1,100 plant species, among which as many as 230 medicinal and edible wild-growing plants, have been identified. Particularly interesting are some plant species that are not typical of this latitude, such as lemon, date, banana, eucalyptus, cedar and sequoia. Parts of natural heritage are protected as forest parks. The best-known forest park of Čikat was planted by Ambroz Haračić, professor of the famous Lošinj Nautical School, at the end of the 19th century. A great variety of exotic plants, which can be seen in Lošinj gardens, have been brought from other parts of the world by seamen and sea captains.

In Veli Lošinj's park, established by the Hapsburg Archduke Charles Stephen, there are some 200 different species of trees from all parts of the world.

It is significant that there are no poisonous snakes on the Lošinj archipelago. There are just lizards and non-poisonous snakes. The island of Lošinj is the habitat of geckos, small lizards of the gekkonidae family. Geckos are protected species. Killing geckos is forbidden and punished by law. Jakov Matunci, an eleven-year-old from Mali Lošinj, was placed third in the World Competition in Environmental Protection Volvo Adventure in Goteborg, Sweden, for his project of protection of geckos, small Mediterranean lizards found on most Adriatic islands, in May 2004. There is small game, as well as big game on the island - fallow deer and moufflons, which have been colonized in this area. There is a lot of feathered game. The birds of prey found in this area include hawks, sparrow-hawks, falcons and giant griffon vultures. Because of the small number of preserved individuals griffon vultures have been protected by law as an endangered species.

The most common domestic animals found in this area are sheep. The sheep on the rocky pastures in the northern part of the island of Lošinj present an idyllic picture.

The local waters of the archipelago abound in various fish, shellfish and molluscs, such as cuttle-fish, squid and octopus.

Unlike some waters of the neighbouring countries, where they have become extinct, dolphins are frequent visitors of this area, playful and ready to make contact with humans.

IN ANCIENT TIMES THE CRES AND LOŠINJ ARCHIPELAGO WAS KNOWN AS THE APSYRTIDES. The name is derived from that of the mythical hero Apsyrtus.

Once upon a time there was a king who had a golden fleece. Jason, a brave young man, got hold of the fleece with cunning and the help of the king's daughter Medea, who was a witch. Jason took to flight by his ship the Argo with his friends the Argonauts. The king's son Apsyrtus went in pursuit of them by his ship. Medea tricked Apsyrtus into negotiations and Jason killed him from ambush. Medea cut up his dead body and threw his limbs into the sea, where they turned into Apsyrtus' islands – the Apsyrtides.

In times of old the islands of Cres and Lošinj used be a whole. The islands were later separated by an artificial canal at Osor to satisfy the needs of sea trade on the so-called Amber Route. Historical changes have hit these islands like sea waves. Millennia have passed like a storm. The presence of small and big nations that have conquered this area has left permanent traces of their material culture, brought with them or created on this soil. The oldest island settlements (Lubnice, Osor, Beli) have more than 4000 years of history. The Roman town of Osor was the seat of the bishopric in the 9th century. Lošinj, which had been almost uninhabited until the middle of the 13th century, developed into a leading regional maritime power by the 19th century. The town of Lošinj became the second most important port in the Adriatic, immediately after Trieste. The inhabitants of Lošinj were not only known for their skillfulness in constructing sailing ships but they were also known as the best seamen in the Mediterranean. The architectural appearance of the centre of Mali Lošinj, which has remained almost the same until the present day, was determined in that period. The beginnings of tourism date back to 1885, when health tourism began to develop on the island.

On 21st January 1885 the first tourist was registered.

The first hotel in Mali Lošinj, named Vindobona, was built in 1887. Owing to the exceptional characteristics of the climate Lošinj was proclaimed a climatic health resort by a decree of the Ministry of Health of the Austrian-Hungarian Monarchy in 1892. Soon it became a popular holiday destination of the Austrian-Hungarian aristocracy, who built numerous villas and summer residences on the island.

Lošinj is still a famous climatic health resort suitable for treating diseases of the respiratory tract and allergies. The island offers ideal conditions for a physical and psychological recovery, particularly during the winter, spring and autumn. The local hotels offer weekend and week's anti-stress and wellness programmes.

DOLPHINS

THE LOŠINJ DOLPHIN RESERVE WAS ESTABLISHED IN THE WATERS OF CRES AND LOŠINJ - the first protected marine area for dolphins in the Mediterranean. The area of Cres and Lošinj is one of the healthiest and the bestpreserved areas in the Northern Adriatic.

In 1987 a research team of the Tethys Institute started long-term research of the biology, ecology and social structure of the community of bottlenose dolphins found in the waters around the Cres and Lošinj islands. This group of dolphins is now one of the best researched groups of dolphins in the Mediterranean. The number of individuals is estimated at some 120. This group of dolphins is very small, isolated and vulnerable.

Dolphins used to have a reputation for stealing fish and destroying fishermen's nets. Rewards for killing dolphins used to be offered. Now we look at them as intelligent, sophisticated animals, which live in complex communities and represent an essential part of the marine ecological system. Observing them in their natural environment is an unforgettable experience.

By participating in the action "Adopt a dolphin" you can support research and educational activities in this field and help protect the dolphins and their habitat. Your contribution will serve to sensitize the community at both the local and state level through activities such as "Dolphin Day" and thematic lectures in schools and kindergartens, as well as to promote the environmental protection of these islands.

"Dolphin Day" is an annual event that has taken place in Veli Lošinj since 1993 on the first Saturday in August.

OWING TO ITS MILD CLIMATE, THROUGHOUT THE YEAR YOU CAN GO WALKING AND MOUNTAINEERING over no less than 220 km of pathways and mountain trails laid out over the five islands. The trails are varied, ranging from easy to mediumdifficult and very demanding hiking trails. The hills of Osorščica (Nerezine) and St. John (Veli Lošinj) are found very attractive by hikers. The footpaths along the sea-shore are ideal for long walks.

If you would like to experience one of the loveliest panoramic views of the whole Lošinj archipelago, climb Osorščica, one of the most beautiful mountains on the Adriatic islands!

Osorščica stretches along the northern part of the island of Lošinj. The highest peak Televrin lies at a height of 588 m. From the peak of Sv. Mikul, which is somewhat lower (557 m), on clear days a magnificent panoramic view opens up. It stretches over the whole Lošinj archipelago, the islands of Cres, Rab, Pag, Silba, the coastline of Istrian Peninsula and the mountain massifs of Gorski Kotar and Velebit.

Osorščica can be climbed by footpaths from both Osor and Nerezine. The old traditional footpath from Nerezine was created for the Austrian heir-to-thethrone, the Hapsburg Archduke Rudolph. He climbed Osorščica in 1887. Osorščica is intersected by numerous cycling and hiking trails. It is also full of caves. The best-known is the cave of St Gaudentius, which lies on the eastern side below the peak. It is only 3 m long. Farther west, below the peak of Televrin, within a range of big cliffs, is the Big Cave. This cave, which was inhabited by prehistoric man, is 23 m long.

You can refresh yourself in the mountain hut, open to visitors daily in the summer months, otherwise on weekends.

Request the map "Promenades and Footpaths" at a local tourist agency or accommodation facilities.

VELI LOŠINJ

VELI LOŠINJ IS A SMALL TOWN, SITUATED AT THE FOOT OF THE HILL OF ST. JOHN (SV. IVAN) in a small cove on the southeastern side of the island of Lošinj. It is interesting to mention that in the beginning Veli Lošinj (or Velo Selo, meaning Big Village), used to be bigger than Mali Lošinj (or Malo Selo, meaning Small Village), but Mali Lošinj grew in size due to its position and the development of seafaring. Now the names of the two settlements denote the opposite of the actual size of the inhabited areas.

Veli Lošinj was proclaimed the most beautiful spot on the Croatian Adriatic for 2008.

SIGHTS

The parish church of St. Anthony the Hermit, originally built in 1480, in its present-day baroque form since 1774. Numerous works of art and the organ by Callido, a Madonna with Child and Saints, relics of St. Gregory.

The Tower dating from 1445. It was built to defend the harbour from pirate attacks. The image of the Tower is the motif of Veli Lošinj's coat-of-arms. Today the Tower houses museum and gallery rooms, open to visitors. Tel. +385 51 233 892

The church of Our Lady of Angels, built in 1510, transformed into a real art gallery by captains' donations.

The forest park "Podjavori" the former winter residence of the Hapsburg Archduke Charles Stephen, now a famous sanatorium.

Rovenska - the breakwater from 1856, built to protect the harbour from stormy gusts of bora. The foundation stone was laid by the Hapsburg Archduke Maximilian.

The church of St. Nicholas (St. Anna) from the 15th century, located on the site where the beginnings of Veli Lošinj's history can be traced to.

The church of St. John, after whom the hill was named, with a panoramic view of Veli and Mali Lošinj and a hiking trail to the southernmost part of the island of Lošinj.

Lošinj's Marine Education Centre - where you can find out more about the Lošinj undersea world and the colony of dolphins found in this area from multimedia and interactive projections, exhibitions and lectures.

MALI LOŠINJ

MALI LOŠINJ LIES IN THE BIGGEST SHELTERED BAY OF THE ARCHIPELAGO CALLED AUGUSTA. It is the biggest town on the Adriatic islands with a population of almost 7,000. The original occupations of the settlers used to be connected with cattle breeding and farming. At the end of the 19th century, when Mali Lošinj developed into a seafaring town, it became the centre of the archipelago. The traces of the maritime past and the influence of sea captains are still felt in the town of Mali Lošinj and its surroundings.

The discovery of the therapeutic properties of the island climate and the development of tourism as a new economic branch, marked the beginning of a new era in Mali Lošinj's history.

The fact that you can find a secluded beach just a 15-minute-walk from the town centre makes this town unique. The coves and small harbours, pebbly and rocky beaches, numerous footpaths and promenades, comfortable accommodation facilities, excellent cuisine and friendly locals provide enough reasons to spend your holiday on Lošinj!

Mali Lošinj is the winner of the Tourism Champion title for 2007, the Silver Flower of Europe 2009, and the International Award for Responsible Tourism 2010 (Premio Turismo Responsabile Italiano 2010). The Tourist Board of Mali Lošinj is an associate member of the United Nations World Tourism Organization (UNWTO).

Lošinj will host the 2010 World Underwater Fishing Championship. The championship will be held 14-19 September 2010. and the spear-fishing will take place in designated zones around the island of Lošinj.

SIGHTS

Apoxyomenus - In 1999, an antique bronze statue of the Greek athlete, Apoxyomenus, was found in the sea not far from Lošinj. The statue, 192 centimetres tall and 2000 years old, lay buried between two rocks and its discovery was a worldwide sensation. The Croatian Apoxyomenus is one of seven similar, well-preserved, statues in the world. Following exhaustive restorative work, the statue was returned to Mali Lošinj, "Kvarner Palace", where it can be seen from 2011.

The church of St. Martin from 1450, situated in the town graveyard, where you can read the history of Lošinj from the tombstones. The priests who used to serve in this church were Glagolitic monks. They also served as notaries and drew up testaments, contracts etc. for the local people.

The parish church of the Nativity of the Virgin and the piazza from 1696-1775. It is a three-nave church with relics of St. Romulus and a painting of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary on the altar.

Čikat; the church of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary (Annunziata). It was built in 1534 and extended in 1858. It stands on the spot where Lošinj sailing ships were once seen off and awaited. Today, if a ship passing by the cape of Annunziata sounds a siren, it means the captain is from Lošinj. Numerous villas of Austrian aristocracy – Čikat Bay.

The monument to Ambroz Haračić (1855-1916), professor of the Nautical School, who studied Lošinj's climate and vegetation – Čikat Bay.

The Nautical School of Ambroz Haračić in the form of a ship with a navigating bridge.

An exceptionally rich art collection by Croatian artists donated by Andro Vid and Katarina Mihičić, and a collection by European artists donated by Giuseppe Piperate, are stored at the gallery in Mali Lošinj. Tel. +385 51 233 892

The church of St. Nicholas from 1857, dedicated to St. Nicholas, patron saint of sailors and travellers.

The monument to Josip Kašman (1847 - 1925), world-famous opera singer from Mali Lošinj.

The Lošinj Aromatic Garden - a nursery of the island medicinal herbs in Mali Lošinj.

Accompanied by a qualified guide, visitors can find out about the rich island flora, the medicinal properties of the island plants and buy an original island souvenir.

SIGHTS

The church of St. Jacob on the graveyard, a Romanesque church with an apse enlarged in 1624 when a larger and wider aisle was added in front of it. The date is carved in Glagolitic letters Č H I G (=1624) on a marble slab at the top of the facade.

The parish church of St. Mary, built in the 19th century. The main altar has a 19th century painting showing Our Lady of the Rosary with St. Dominic, St. Catherine of Siena and St. Jacob.

NEREZINE

NEREZINE LIES AT THE FOOT OF THE HILL OF OSORŠĆICA, on the eastern side of the island of Lošinj. It was first mentioned as a bigger island settlement in the 14th century. Nerezine developed from numerous isolated houses that people built amid their own fertile land. Only later, as seafaring and shipbuilding developed, Nerezine assumed the characteristics of a coastal settlement. Two holiday villages, two campsites, two small family-run hotels and a great number of private rooms and holiday apartments offer comfortable accommodation. The restaurants are known for excellent cuisine.

SIGHTS

The Franciscan Monastery with a three-storey campanile from the 16th century.

The parish church of Our Lady of Health built in 1877.

The castle of the Osor patrician Colane Drasa from the 15th century.

The hill of Osoršćica - a mountain trail. The peak of Sv. Mikul with a chapel, a magnificent vantagepoint. The peak of Televrin at a height of 589 m, the Cave of St. Gaudentius and the Big Cave.

OSOR

OSOR IS 4000 YEARS OLD. Long before the Roman period the islands of Cres and Lošinj were called the Osor archipelago. Today's Osor, a museum in itself, has barely eighty inhabitants. At every step one comes across traces of its distant past. The tourist facilities include two campsites and private accommodation. The traditional Osor Musical Evenings have taken place in Osor every summer since 1976.

SIGHTS

The Town Museum - the former town hall, from the 15th century (with remains dating from the Early Christian period, and earlier).

The Museum of Church Art in the former bishop's palace.

The Archeological Collection of Osor. Tel. +385 51 233 892

The Cathedral, built between 1463 and 1498 (in a N-S direction). The main baroque altar had the relics of St. Gaudentius, bishop and patron saint of Osor.

The town walls.

The antique floor mosaic in the church of St. Mary in the graveyard and the sexagonal baptismal font from the 5th – 6th centuries.

The Osor Garden of Sculptures - "Sculpture and Music".

PUNTA KRIŽA

PUNTA KRIŽA ON THE ISLAND OF CRES IS A LANDSCAPE OF PERFECT TRANQUILITY. In the coves of Baldarin and Bokinić there is a classical and a naturist campsite. Private accommodation is available in the settlements of Draga and Pogana, where one can spend an unforgettable holiday in an unspoilt natural environment.

SIGHTS

The church of St. Anthony from the 15th century and the Romanesque church of St. Andrew in the graveyard, built on the site of an older church.

Numerous shepherd's paths.

BELEJ

BELEJ IS A VILLAGE ON THE NORTHERN SIDE OF THE ISLAND OF CRES. It lies in the middle of a plateau, whose western side gradually descends toward the sea. The locals offer private accommodation – a great opportunity for a stay in an unspoilt natural environment.

SIGHTS

The parish church with the wooden baroque statues of St. George on Horseback and St. Rochus.

USTRINE

A SMALL SETTLEMENT OF ROMAN ORIGIN, now a settlement of sheep breeders and fishermen, situated on the edge of a ridge, falling abruptly from a height of 180 metres toward the sea.

SIGHTS

The archeological locality from the Roman period (by the church of St. Martin), the remains of a Roman villa with a bathroom.

ISLANDS

ON THE ISLANDS OF SUSAK, UNIJE AND ILOVIK PRIVATE ACCOMMODATION IS AVAILABLE in holiday apartments and private rooms. On the island of Unije there is a tourist agency. On the island of Susak and Ilovik private accommodation is provided by independent landlords. All the mentioned islands are connected with Mali Lošinj by regular line services by ship daily. During the summer the islands are visited by numerous excursion boats from Mali Lošinj as well. Regular fast ship services connect the islands with Rijeka. These islands are car-free..

UNIJE

THE ISLAND OF UNIJE IS THE SECOND LARGEST ISLAND OF THE LOŠINJ ARCHIPELAGO. It abounds in coves, inlets and pebbly beaches, ideal for swimming, fishing and sailing. It is particularly attractive to those who love sailing and discovering unknown places. The only settlement of the same name is a typical fishing village with an almost 800-metre-long beach.

SIGHTS

The big stone vessel for olive oil with a Glagolitic inscription from 1676.

The church of St. Andrew, in its present-day form since 1911, with a campanile from 1857.

The Gallery and the olive mill.

ILOVIK

ILOVIK, WHICH LIES TO THE SOUTH OF LOŠINJ, IS AN ISLAND OF FLOWERS. It is separated from the islet of Sv. Petar by a sea channel. On the islet of Sv. Petar are the Benedictine Abbey of St. Peter from the 11th century and Ilovik's graveyard. The long sheltered channel between the two small islands serves as a harbour to local fishermen, as well to numerous boaters, who come here to enjoy the beauty of the unspoilt marine world. The specific features of the island are eucalyptus trees.

SIGHTS

The square tower from 1597, built to watch over the sea and protect navigation from frequent pirate attacks of the Uskoks.

On the hill of Straža there are remains of a hill-fort from the Bronze Age.

SUSAK

THE ISLAND OF SUSAK, MADE OF SAND, IS A UNIQUE ISLAND IN THE ADRIATIC. It has unique natural features and a rich cultural heritage. The island has sandy and rocky beaches. The sea is clean and rich in fish. The island is inhabited by hard-working wine-growers and fishermen, who have maintained their archaic dialect, specific customs and traditional folk costumes.

SIGHTS

The Benedictine Abbey of St. Nicholas from the 11th century, with the great crucifix, called Great God by the locals, from the 12th century. According to a legend the crucifix had been drifted ashore and was brought into the church by the Benedictines. It has been impossible to take it out of the church ever since.

The local graveyard, wholly exposed to the sun, with shining sun-lit tombstones.

A wine shop.

Susak

THE NATURAL WEALTH OF THE CRES AND LOŠINJ ARCHIPELAGO provides the basis for the rich and healthy Mediterranean cuisine. The main characteristics of this cuisine are fish and seafood specialities, dishes based on traditional island recipes, use of local aromatic herbs, pot herbs and olive oil. Smoked ham, sheep's cheese, salted anchovies, seafood salad are some of the cold starters that you should try. For a hot side dish you can have seafood risotto or pasta, minestra or brodetto Dalmatian style. Fresh sea fish, scampi and squid, prepared in various ways, shellfish, roast lamb under peka (earthen baking lid) are the island specialities. Typical local salad is arugula and radicchio. Dishes are seasoned with fresh oregano, basil, sage, balm, thyme, rosemary and laurel.

Do not leave out wine and home-made brandy with aromatic herbs. We recommend the local wines from the island of Susak.

All over the island there are restaurants, taverns and other catering establishments, where you can enjoy international dishes and national specialities, as well as local island specialities.

You can read more about the island cuisine in the following books:

EXCURSIONS

THE CRES AND LOŠINJ ARCHIPELAGO OFFERS GREAT OPPORTUNITIES FOR EXCURSIONS. There is a rich choice of half-day and whole-day excursions for all types of tourists.

Countless bays, coves and inlets offer endless opportunities for whole-day boat trips. The most attractive are those to the islands of the Lošinj archipelago, Unije, Susak and Ilovik, as well as to the neighbouring islands of Silba nad Rab.

Fishing and diving trips for lovers of the sea and the undersea are organized by numerous excursion boats.

Apart from boat trips there are island tours, which include seeing the most interesting cultural sights and visiting the most charming places on the island - Osor, Cres, Lubenice, Valun...

Osor, a museum in itself, is a 4000-year-old town. It was the centre of the archipelago in the Roman period. The numerous archeological remains, the town walls, the Museum of Church Art, the Archeological Collection and the Cathedral evoke memories of its glorious past.

Cres, the island Venice, is the biggest town on the island of the same name. It is characterized by the Venetian influence.

Lubenice, a prehistoric 4000-year-old settlement, is situated on an imposing, breathtakingly steep cliff.

Valun is a picturesque fishing village. There are organized hiking tours on the island of Lošinj as well. You can enjoy a pleasant walk along the sea-shore, through the pine forests and shady groves, on winding footpaths and hiking trails, as well as through the picturesque island villages with their well-preserved rural architecture, characterized by narrow streets and squares. The island definitely has to be seen from the air as well. Take a panoramic flight to get a full and unforgettable impression of the island.

You can get all the information on organized trips at any of the local tourist agencies, hotels and campsites, as well as on the excursion boats, anchored in Mali Lošinj's harbour.

FRAGRANCES AND TASTES OF THE ISLAND OF LOŠINJ

FOLLOWING ON LAST YEAR'S SUCCESS WHICH MARKED THE EVENT "FRAGRANCES AND TASTES OF LOŠINJ", the Tourism Office in cooperation with the Fragrant Island Garden is continuing with development of this project. The event "Fragrances and Tastes of Lošinj" has spread to the whole town, camps, hotels, tourist agencies, restaurants.....The fragrance network has expanded in all forms, from floral displays, potpourri, liqueurs, juices, cakes, fragrant decorations to gastro-menus where, in various ways, autochthonous island plants are used.

Fragrance of months

This year the whole month will be dedicated to the island's medicinal plants and pot herbs, so January and February will be characterised by lemons, oranges and tangerines, March by rosemary, eucalyptus and laurel, April is reserved for asparagus, Lošinj onion and borage, May will be characterised by sage, fennel and nettle, June by Spanish broom, lavender, immortelle and ribwort plantain, July bougainvillea, mint and bladder campion and August figs, oleander and medlar. In September, the fragrance program continues with days of jujube, grapes, indian fig opuntia and rock samphire. October will be characterised by myrtle, strawberry-tree, pomegranate and dandelion, November by olives, dog rose and quince and December by pine, agave and prickly juniper.

Why not find time for yourself on our fragrant island! !
